ROAD CLOVERPORT

-Col. Edwin Forbes Thinks Cloverport Men are Encouraged M. H. & E. Will Come Here.

Well's Station, Ky., July 9.—The Madisonville, Hartford Eastern Railroad here is progressing rapidly under the management of A. Goodman, of Breckenridge, who has the section from here to the Creek. Though he has been on the road but little over two weeks like the work he has done at several months. The in the center of the farm of Mr. B. F. Mitchell and his formed me this morning that already many demands for building sites and other work making preparations to leave them. The Madisonville and Eastern Railroad joins Louisville, Henderson and St. Louis Branch Railroad at the station of Mitchell's station and the survey was made for a road the people here were told soon as the new road was completed another road would be built from the station to Cloverport via Springs. The people here have wanted a railroad from this point to county to the County Seat at what they want is a railroad for Springs, Cloverport and River which if the railroad properly encouraged will be constructed. By all means let to this road and renew our acquaintance with our friends at Cloverport.

UNQUESTIONABLE EVIDENCE.

From G. W. Young.

Louisville, Ky., July 9.

The Anti-Saloon League of Kentucky has inquired into the attitude of Hon. Ben Johnson, of Bardstown, Ky. upon the whisky question and find that he is said by his neighbors to be a total abstainer and that he is a valued supporter of the local option movement in his county.

G. W. YOUNG.

Sup't. Kentucky Anti-Saloon League.

From Rev. Chas. Anderson.

Bardstown, Ky., July 14-06.

Mr. Jno. D. Babbage, Cloverport, Ky.

Dear Sir:

Your letter making inquiries as to position of Hon. Ben Johnson on local option, duly received.

As to Mr. Johnson's habits, he is a total abstainer, has never used tobacco or liquors. As to his attitude on local option. In 1893 we first had a vote in Bardstown on the Saloon question, I have personally examined the poll books of that election and Mr. Johnson voted against the saloon. Remember "local option" was not so popular then as now and many men now occupying prominent seats on the local option had wagon had not been heard from. As to his attitude now. We are in the midst of a campaign to vote the saloon out of Nelson county under the new County Unit law. The writer of this letter was active in bringing this issue before the people. From the first Mr. Johnson allied himself openly with us and has given his influence, his counsel and his financial support to the movement. He is, so far as I know, the only office holder in Nelson county who has openly allied himself with us.

This is and has been, since 1893 his record on the question. Remember that in this, his home county, there are 19 distilleries, with their tremendous influence, and you will appreciate something of his courage. I could write more fully and will answer any questions for further information. Here, in his home, we local option people count him one of us and are mighty glad to do so.

As to his position on the Rectifiers Bill. We regarded that as Revenue Legislation, not Temperance Legislation and were satisfied he acted conscientiously and as he believed for the best. Yours,

CHAS. ANDERSON.

Pastor Bardstown Baptist Church.

TO THE FOUR WINDS

Went Carnival Troupe Saturday Night-Manager West Deserts The Company.

The Carnival troupe went to the four winds here Saturday night. Mr. West, the manager, left to his home and many of the troupe men severed their connection with the show. The merry-go-round, the "Bald Hank Robbery" and the "Bald Hank Robbery" went to Lewisport for a week's engagement. It is understood the troupe will not do much to his usual good standard of shows.

In Honor of Miss Roberts.

"Police" "Water Queen" floating show will be at the river Monday night. Col. Price's show has long been a favorite among river show patrons. This year's performance will no doubt be up to his usual good standard of shows.

BURIES FANGS

IN "BOBO"

The Snake Eater-Breckenridge Rattler Proves Too Much for "South African Wild Man" Bites His Arm.

"Bobo" the snake eater from the wild of South Africa, traveling with the Carnival company here last week, suddenly Saturday night, almost in the twinkling of an eye became very docile. His chains were thrown off of him, his artificial make-up torn to pieces and "Bobo" was lying in his bed suffering the agonies of death. A Breckenridge county rattler-snake from the wilds of Pinchew had bitten him on the arm. He is now here in town about half dead as the result. Some expect him to live, many more expect him to die.

It was Fred May's rattler snake that got "Bobo". This snake is three feet long and has six rattles. "Bobo" made a wager he could take this snake into his den, bite its head off and swallow it. He was told there was no objection on May's part and the rattler-snake from Pinchew was thrown into "Bobo's" den. The man outside the den, who did the part of telling about the wonderful things this wild man from South Africa, could do played up the fact that "Bobo" was going to chew up and swallow a Breckenridge rattler-snake, with the greatest stress. Ticket sold like wild fire. "Bobo" was coming money. The wonderful show was about to begin. "Bobo's" appetite was ravenous. Everything was running smoothly until the big rattler leaped at "Bobo's" arm with all his strength and buried his fangs into it. "Bobo" reeled and fell to the bottom of his den like a dead man. The snake had done its work. The negro's arm began to swell and he was suffering the agonies of death. Policemen came, the crowd was cleared and "Bobo" with assistance of a doctor was eased down a little.

Proud of Judge Moorman.

Vannatt, Ky., Rocklick District, July 16.—Bro. Babbage—I am proud to see the stand that Judge Moorman is taking for good roads and the way he is forcing the road work in order to have the roads in good condition for winter. The roads have been played over by the overseers and hands so long until now they are almost impassable in this district. I live on the Cloverport and Bowling Green road and the road past my farm has not been worked for five years either by hands or county. The people had a chance last November to elect men who were in favor of doing away with the old style of working the roads and turning to have them worked by taxation but the people said by their votes that they wanted the old way.

So now let them roll up their sleeves and take their shovels without a grant or minter. So I say about into them drags and let us have roads over which we can travel with safety and ease. They may learn a lesson that they may not forget for several years to come.

I am in favor of working the roads together by taxation so as to let the working of the roads fall onto those who use the roads most to come.

WEDNESDAY JULY 18, 1906

For Congress.

HON. BEN JOHNSON

Read the card printed in another column from Dr. Young, Supt. Ky.
Anti-Saloon League. It ought to satisfy the most skeptical as to Col. Ben Johnson's attitude on the Local Option question. We especially commend it to our friends, Dodson.

Since the above was written we have received another clincher, in a letter, which we print from the Rev. Charles Anderson, pastor of the Baptist church at Bardonia. This does our son good and ought to do any man's son good who is a friend of temperance.
Ben Johnson is a man of courage, of conviction, of right, and deserves the support of all good people.

A Story With a Moral.

The following, which has a moral is clearly shown, is taken from an exchange. Recently a church, congregation in a little Kansas town, built a new church. To pay for it they were obliged to call on the merchants of the community for donations. The merchants responded liberally and $500 was raised from this source. The last man to subscribe was John Smith, a jeweler. "I will give you $20 if you will let me add something to the contribution list," he said. The permission was accorded him and he wrote at the foot of the list:

John Smith, jeweler, $20.00.
Seam & Roebuck Co., 00.00.
Montgomery, Ward & Co., 00.00.
The church people saw the list when the minister read from the pulpit the list of donors to the building fund and during the dedication of the church there have been no mail orders sent out from that Kansas town.—St. Louis Furniture News.

BOSTON'S NEW CHURCH.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS DEDICATE TWO MILLION DOLLAR MOTHER TEMPLE.

Thousands From All Parts of World Thronged Historic City—Church Seats 5000—Taller Than Bunker Hill Monument.

The dedication in June of a magnificent new addition to the Mother Church of the Christian Science denomination, in Boston, was an event of the highest significance in the history of this religious body.

Built as the result of a spontaneous recognition of Mrs. Eddy's life-work and of the imperative demands of the marvellous growth of the movement, expressing the liberality of thousands of Christian Scientists, and embodying the best in architectural design and modern construction, this new building was logically the central feature of this year's gathering.

The church is one of the largest, if not the largest in the United States, its seating capacity being 5002. Its style of architecture is Italian Renaissance. The pews and other interior furnishings are of mahogany. The walls are covered with terra cotta and stone, with beautiful decorative carvings. The inside finish is a soft gray to harmonize with the Bedford stone columns supporting the dome. The height of the building to the top of the dome is 224 feet, just one foot higher than Bunker Hill monument. The dome is eighty-two feet in diameter and is covered with terra cotta to match the Bedford stone. The building presents a stately, dignified and impressive appearance, and it is already recognized as one of the landmarks of Boston.

The cost of the building is something less than $2,000,000. The new chimneys consist of eleven leads, the largest of which weighs 4,000 pounds. The smallest bell weighs 400 pounds. The organ is one of the largest and finest in the world.

The original Mother Church, which adjoins the new building seats about 1,200, and yet three Sunday services are regularly held in the new church.

It is said that when this edifice was planned some of the members were disturbed on account of its size. They thought that the provision of so large an auditorium was entirely unnecessary for the attendance at that time being only about 550.

Mrs. Eddy, who presided at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston in 1879 with twenty-six members, in 1882 there were only 450 members, and at first that in 1883, ten years later, there were only eleven churches. From that time, however, the increase was more rapid. In 1889, there were 301 churches. There are now 657 churches and 23 societies. The new church is being dedicated to the Christian Science denomination, making 982 societies holding church services. In 1882 there were only 450 members in the entire connection. In 1884 the total membership was 2,536. Five years later it had reached 15,154. These figures show that the principal growth has taken place during the past seven years. The membership at the present time is about 72,000.

The dedicatory exercises were attended by visitors from all parts of the United States and Canada, from Great Britain, Australia, Sweden, Denmark, France, Germany, Switzerland, the Hawaiian Islands, Porto Rico and other foreign countries.

One hundred and forty-five churches have already been erected by the Christian Scientists. These, as a whole, compare favorably with those of the other denominations. It is said that when funds are no longer needed for the completion of the Mother Church a large number of the buildings will be commenced in different parts of the country.

EARTHQUAKE RECORDERS.

They Are the Most Delicate of All Instruments.

The instruments invented for the recording of the motions of the earth's crust during an earthquake are looked upon by scientists as the most delicate of all machines. So highly sensitive are they, indeed, that the very slightest vibratory motion is recorded perfectly. Even the tread of feet cannot escape this instrument, if sufficient cause vibration.

There are three classes of instruments for the automatic recording of earthquakes, each with its own particular function. First is the seismograph, which will merely detect and record the fact that there has been an earth tremor. Some of these are so equipped as to indicate the time of the disturbance.

Second is the seismometer, the function of which is to measure the maximum force of the shock, either with or without an indication of its direction.

The third instrument is the seismograph, which is so arranged that it will accurately record the number, direction, duration, amplitude and period of successive oscillations. The last instrument is by far the most delicate of the three.

In the construction of this earthquake-recording machine the maker must so suspend a heavy body that when its normal position is disturbed in the most infinitesimal degree, no reactionary force will be developed tending to restore it to its original position. The inventor has never been found who could accomplish this suspension of a body to perfection. The seismograph of today, however, has reached a stage of perfection where close approximations are obtained in the records made.

The complementary part of the instrument is composed of a system of levers connecting an automatically sensitive body with various recording devices that are moved by clockwork. These surfaces are constructed of highly sensitive material, and the needles play on the suspended weight responds to the vibrations of the earth's crust.

The most elaborate of these machines are capable of recording the vertical and two horizontal motions of the earth in the case of a seismic disturbance.

AD A GOOD SPANKING.

Boy, Rescued From Drowning, Mother Administers an Admonishment.

An interesting little story of very human interest comes from the river bank of the city of New York City where Signora Genaro, who recently came to this country from Naples, and who came into national prominence some time since when she married Elmer Goodale, the talented young New England poetess. At the President's solicitation Dr. Eastman, who is considered the best educated Indian in the world, agreed to personally undertake the task of inducing his people to adopt the system of family names desired by the government.

Just what this responsibility meant will be better understood when it is recalled that not only for a Dr. Eastman to visit all the Indian villages of the Sioux tribe and personally bestow names on the natives, but also to invent the new names. Just imagine selecting given names for 25,000 persons of both sexes and nationalities, perhaps half as many or one-third as many different family names in addition.

In this portion of his novel missionary work for Uncle Sam the Name Giver, the Sioux now term their educated tribesman, has displayed rare judgment and a fine regard for family history and tradition among the Sioux—a thoughtfulness that has done much to win the good will of these intelligent but formerly backward Indians for the new project. Whenever possible he has perpetuated an Indian's old name in the new name. For on the High Eagle becomes Mr. High Eagle, Red-tailed Coyote was changed to Robert T. Wolf and Red-tailed Hawk has been transformed into Robert Pumpkin.

Dr. Eastman has been making a round of all the Sioux reservations, which are located for the most part in the Dakotas and elsewhere in the Northwest. When he arrives at a branch agency, or tribal headquarters, he is at once recognized by the Indians, his first move is to have a conference with the chief men or councilors of the place. They, in turn, and fished out Antonio. The policeman had only one car, and it was a small one. He had to go to the boy and hit him into the boat.

When the signers saw that their son was safe, the anguish in his face gave way to a look of resolve and purpose, as the dripping Antonio was placed on the wharf side him across her knee and did what Neapolitan and other mothers have done to their erring jewels ever since boys were pants.

Her Master Was a Gentleman.

A Boston couple were recreating near Augusta, and met an old negro woman to whom they took a fancy. They invited her to pay them a visit, and the colored woman accepted, especially as her expenses were to be paid.

In due time she arrived in Boston and was installed in the house of the white folks. She was given one of the best rooms, and ate at the same table with her host and hostess.

At one of the meals the hostess said: "Mrs. Jones, you were a slave, weren't you?"

"Yes, mum," replied the old colored woman. "I belonged to Mrs. Robert Howell."

"I suppose he never invited you to eat at his table?" remarked the Boston lady.

"No, honey, dat he didn't. My master was a gentleman. He ain't never let no nigger set at the table 'longside er him."

RENAMING THE SIOUX.

SOME TWENTY-FIVE THOUSAND INDIANS ARE RECEIVING CHRISTIAN NAMES.

Educated Indian Tribesmen Selected by the "Great Father" to Receive Christian Names—Recently Inaugurated a Unique and Ingenious Project in Connection with the Indian Reservation.

Uncle Sam has recently inaugurated a unique and ingenious project in connection with the Indian reservation at least the most populous division of them. This is nothing less than a scheme for renaming every chief and brave, every squaw and pookose of the Sioux tribe. The object of this wholesale rechristening is to insure the right descent of property, something that has been attended with much difficulty under the old condition of affairs when the Sioux had no family name and each resided in a small group of huts, a common name which most likely had not the slightest resemblance to those of any native relatives.

The remaining of the 25,000 members of the Sioux Indian tribe was ordered by President Roosevelt to receive the names of the Indian. To decide upon the new naming was however an easy matter in comparison to the actual carrying out of the strange undertaking.

SOLICITORS OF THE INDIANS.

The President and his advisors realized from the outset that it would be one thing to give the Indians new names and quite another to induce the sons and daughters of the forest—ever suspicious of the white men—to accept and use these new names. However, the Great Father at Washington was fortunate enough to enlist the cooperation of Dr. Charles Alexander Eastman, a highly educated physician and clergyman, who is a full-blooded Sioux, and who came into national prominence some time since when he married Elmer Goodale, the talented young New England poetess. At the President's solicitation Dr. Eastman, who is considered the best educated Indian in the world, agreed to personally undertake the task of inducing his people to adopt the system of family names desired by the government.

been proven that the new system of names will be of the greatest benefit and value in insuring the correct descent of Government allotments of land from generation to generation. Incidentally it may be noted that even this early this untangling of lines of descent has won for some Indians valuable property rights previously denied them. As a case in point it may be cited that only a few weeks ago Dr. Eastman was instrumental in securing for a young squaw six acres of rich land of high value which had been temporarily lost to her owing to her separation from her own tribe, and which an unscrupulous relative was on the point of selling when President Roosevelt's special commissioner stepped in and set things right.

THE BLACK SEAL PURSE.

"Snatch it! Snatch it!" whispered Reddy the "hookout," pal to "Jimmy the Swift," who won this title from the lightning rapidity with which he was known to relieve men's pockets of their contents.

In a moment the practiced fingers of Jimmy had skillfully extracted a fat seal purse from the pocket of a slight young man who was busily elbowing his way through the crowd that was besieging a belated Broadway car.

"The day had not been a rich one for the 'picks,'" and Jimmy eyed the thin purse rather sympathetically.

"Mighty slim-looking, hey, Red?"

"Look here, Reddy! You and I's friends—that's all right; but as sure as I'm a thief, this here ain't no star for a feller to laugh at!"

For an answer Red thrust his hands into his pockets, eyeing Jim curiously in the while, and turned on one foot with a long low whistle.

"I never had no mother," murmured Jim. "She died when I was a little chum, so I never knew her, but it costed me awfully nice for a feller to have a mother like that to be good to him, and learn him things. You know, perhaps if you and me had mothers like that, 'lvin', instead of being kicked round by these fellows, who never gets enough out of us, we might a had a good schoolin' and been makin' 'an honest livin', instead of bein' in New York."

These words of regret upon the part of the little thief, who had expressed a desire for something better, from one whose only home almost since infancy had been on the streets, where companions had been scarce, and never-dwells, was too much for the invincible Reddy, whose worship consisted of larceny that made villains and not penitent sinners.

He could hardly suppress his contempt for the fellow, but "Soft" Jimmy, hence he drawled, with a sneer:

"You—ah!—you—ah!—to squeal on account of that fat, hey, Jim?"

"See, there you are! You chased Jim. Look at the bunch of grovelers sticking out of the old feller's car—quick, Jim!"

The habit of years could not be overcome in a moment. Flashed by his taunt, Jimmy stealthily looked forward, and in a second he would have been on the bunch of paper money which the evil eye of Reddy "spotted" in the old man's pocket. Like a flash came the sight of the purse, the gray lock of hair, the words in the newspaper that made such an impression upon him—no, he would not be caught any more. His hand dropped to his side. The old man disappeared with the money, safe from Jimmy's wicked fingers.

Jim's hand sank until it rested upon his naked chest, his companion glaring at him with eyes furious with anger.

"Well, 'fah'r no use," said Jim, quietly but firmly. "I couldn't Red, wife and mother, and I'll never try it again."

"You got another pal—if you want to—but I tell you that I ain't goin' to keep this here pocketbook nor nothin' what's in it. It's done for me; I've got to leave it."

That night a black seal purse was left in the office of one of the great New York newspapers, with a note scrawled in pencil, as follows:

"Please try to find the owner of this. I saw he wants it until the Chief was was."—Los Angeles Times.

In Extremis.

The four-year-old daughter of a clergyman was calling one night and found the door open. She was about to leave her bed when she called her back.

"Mamma," she said, "I want to see my papa."

"No, dear," her mother replied, "your father is busy and must not be disturbed."

"But, mamma," the child persisted, "I want to see my papa."

At last the mother replied: "No, your papa must not be disturbed."

But the little one came back with a clincher.

"Mamma," she declared solemnly, "I am a sick woman, and I want to see my father."

TOMATOES POTATOES BARNES

Tomatoes for the Cannery. Raising tomatoes for the canneries has grown to be quite an industry in a number of States. Maryland leads the list with about two million cases per annum; Indiana, with her million cases, second; followed, in turn, by New Jersey, California, Delaware and Ohio. The canneries are permanent institutions, the demand is increasing, and there is no reason why the growing of tomatoes will not continue to be a profitable business with many.

Growing tomatoes for a cannery differs from raising them for the market, for the former case, first of all, a large yield is sought. Early maturity is of less importance since the grower contracts to sell the whole crop at a fixed price. It is said that good corn land is rich enough for tomatoes, although medium clay loam is preferred in many.

Spentland results follow fall or winter plowing. At any rate land should be plowed as early in the spring as possible. Plow deep and follow with earth mulching, that is, maintain a thin layer of fine earth on the surface by shallow cultivation, which will be of great value in saving the moisture. The variety should be such as the canneries prefer. The soil should provide the plants at a nominal price to those who grow tomatoes for them. In case it is preferred to grow the plants near where they are to be sold, they should be started in a cold frame or on the south side of a building in a rich warm soil. The plants will increase to proper size in four or five weeks, and should be set out in the field in rows about four feet apart, for ease of cultivation. Start the cultivation early, but be careful not to injure the plants, as that will kill them. When they begin to branch do not cultivate closer than the ends of the branches. Continue stirring the soil.

until the stalk has grown so heavy as to fall upon the ground, then comes the harvest. For heavy yields it is essential that strong land or heavy fertilization be used. While it is true that on many of the soils in the Middle States a remunerative crop may be produced with little fertilization, it is also true that on nearly all of these soils a liberal use of fertilizers will be profitable.

The tomato plant is a cross feeder, and especially requires an abundant supply of potash. Prof. Voorhees of New Jersey, who is authority on such subjects, estimates that ten tons of fruit, with the accompanying vines, would contain fifty-seven pounds of potash, sixteen pounds of phosphoric acid, and twenty-four pounds of potash. On many of our soils little phosphoric acid is relatively low, and the application of potash is more variable, and can often be secured by turning under a leguminous crop. On Eastern lands, which have been devoted to last year's tomato crop, nitrate of soda can be used with profit. In the case of late season varieties of tomatoes, the use of nitrate of soda is especially profitable for this vegetable because of its late season, and largely to the ignorance of some, and from lack of knowledge of the requirements of the soil. It is to be noted that the growers and the canneries are asking for advice regarding fertilizers to be used on tomatoes. A culture that has been officially recommended contains:

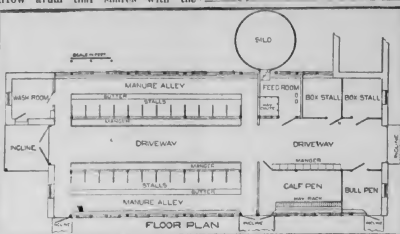

Nitrogen . . . 1 per cent.
Phosphoric acid . . . 7 per cent.
Potash . . . 12 per cent.
using about 500 pounds of this mixture per acre.

Some experiments of early tomatoes seem to indicate that sulphate of potash gives them a better quality. A properly made tobacco fertilizer is also suited for this crop, and the potash in it is derived from sulphate.

matter of fact, what are commonly regarded as the petals of the dogwood are no part of the floral structure at all, but merely four large white leaves, which, during the winter, served as protective wrappers to the tender buds. The real flower is about the size of a piece of, or greenish color, and is enclosed several together in a small cluster in the midst of the four white leaves, and is observed at all by the average wild flower gatherers, are mistaken for stamens.

So, too, with the flowers of the pretty "painted cup," which when it blossoms in May frequently makes the meadows ring with brilliant color. Flushing one, we may think we are looking at a pile of gorgeous, flame-colored flowers, while the fact is that the striking effect is produced entirely by numerous reddened leaves intermingled with the real flowers, which are as plain as Cinderella's slippers and practically hidden from sight.

Indeed, so fond is Mother Nature of bestowing her most elegant devices that she has caused one whole family of plants to be given over to this make-believe game of flowering. To be long that favorite little proser of the April wood—Jack-in-the-pulpit; the arrow grass that shivers with the patterned and picked weed the muddy margins of shallow streams; the skunk cabbage, and that aristocrat of the greenhouse, the tomato, call it. With all these flowers are unaccountable in themselves as such, except by the brilliant, being minute and crowded on a fleshy spike.

Another gay deceiver is the poinsettia of the hot-house. In this case it is a cluster of scarlet leaves which popular estimation takes as a flower, while the poor little leaf blossom clustered in the midst of these robbers their good name live and die unprovided. Relatives of the poinsettia are the wild spruces of our sunny fields. The flowers of many of these, insipid in themselves, are admirably provided with relatively showy appendages, deceiving all but students.

Model Dairy Farm. The Department of Agriculture has recently published a bulletin containing suggestions for constructing a model dairy farm. It has been the endeavor of the Department to plan a farm embodying the best ideas in scientific and sanitary construction that are consistent with practicability and cheapness, and it is believed the result accomplished by the plan published will help the dairyman to get the best products from his cows in the most economical manner. The plan is designed for 24 cows, and allows ample room for calf pens and box stalls for bull and cows; also space for feed room, hay chute, wash room and silo. In presenting the plan it is not intended by the officials of the has attended them Mr. Darst. It is stated, has the endorsement of Luther Burbank, the eminent horticulturist, and botanist.—From Chicago Record Herald.

Counterfeit Blossoms. When the dogwood is in bloom in the spring woods, he would be a very unobservant traveler who did not know it; yet it is questionable if one out of fifty of the multitude of people who come home from their country walks with their arms full of snowy branches has ever noticed the real flowers of this beautiful tree.

first, it allows ample room for the stalls and passageways, and, second, it permits of the most economical use of lumber in building. The length shown is 54 feet, but this feature is wholly dependent on the number of cows the dairyman wishes to handle. One of the weakest points in barn construction is the small amount of window space usually allowed. This error is rectified by the Department in its plan by allowing approximately 4 square feet for each cow.

Clean Food

We are inclined to believe that some magazine writers in their anxiety to attract attention to themselves have overstated the case against the meat packers. We do not sell meat but believe in fair play, and also in a complete knowledge, by the people, of exactly what they are eating. We have always printed on each and every pkg. of exactly what it is made of and the scores of visitors who pass through our works every day find the Pure Food Factories as clean and sweet as a maiden's fresh white apron. The food is thoroughly cooked in these factories from the choicest white wheat and barley, the sweet offering of the fields.

No food on earth gives the same sustaining power from meal to meal as Grape-Nuts.

BECAUSE— The starchy parts of the wheat and barley are changed by moisture and heat to a form of sugar required by the human system and almost immediately absorbed without stress to the digestive machinery. And again, the certain elements in these grains are incorporated to insure rebuilding of the soft gray matter in the brain and nerve centres to fit one for the wearing work of the day. A dish of Grape-Nuts and Cream at each meal supplies the GO and you can feel it in a way that leaves no question. It is not stimulation but simply scientific feeding.

AT CARNIVAL.

Young Folks Get Lively With Return Balls and Confetti-
Merry-Go-Round Busy.

Cloverport is an hundred years of age but last week it witnessed its first carnival or street fair. There seems to be a lot of flat pocket-booms among the boys who are at an age when they gladly buy every thing their "sweet-hearts" give them, but every body had a lively time. Unfortunately the band along with the show said good by the day it came and the music through out the week was made principally by the jangling of cow bells and the little black oliger with his grunting organ on the merry-go-round.

The shows were not worth sitting down so see, and the crowd realizing this started out to make their own fun. Rubber return balls and confetti new lively and one considered himself lucky if he could walk ten feet with out being bombarded by shots lying in ambush. The merry-go-round was the biggest attraction going and drew a great many of the people.

Every show has its lights and this one had one somewhat of the tommy-hawk variety. Two brothers, who were drinking began to quarrel. One found a balckout and applied it pretty freely about the other's head. The blows were heard across the street. But this did not stop the fun and the show went on.

Elmoreville, Toblinsport and Cannell-ton were represented at the show at different nights during the week by visitors. The crowd, mainly, was made up of people from near town and of Cloverporters.

Doctors said he would not live.

Peter Fry, Woodruff, Pa., writes "After doctoring for two years with the best physicians in Wayneburg, and still getting worse, the doctors advised me if I had any business to attend to I had better attend to it at once, as I could not possibly live another month as there was no cure for me. Fole's Kidney Cure was recommended to me by a friend, and I immediately sent my son to the store after it and after taking three bottles I began to get better and continued to improve until I was entirely well," said by A. R. Fisher, Cloverport.

The lambs are all very fine and were brought up in the vicinity of Vine Grove. Elizabeth-town News

July 21 Years Old.

"I am only 21 years old and don't expect even when I get to be real old to feel that way as long as I can get Electric Bitters," says Mrs. E. H. Brunson, of Dublin, Ga. Dyspepsia, torpid liver, inflamed kidneys or chronic constipation are unknown after taking Electric Bitters a reasonable time. (Manufactured by S. W. Rogers, Druggist, Cloverport.)

THE PAINFUL SORES ON HANDS

Suffered for a Long Time Without Relief—Had Three Doctors and Derived No Benefit—One Doctor Was Afraid to Touch Them—Soreness Disappeared and Hands Now Smooth After Application of

CUTICURA SOAP AND CUTICURA OINTMENT

"For a long time I suffered with sores on the hands which were itching, painful, and disagreeable. I had three doctors and derived no benefit from any of them. One doctor said he was afraid to touch my hands, so you must know how bad they were; another said I never could be cured; and the third said the sores were caused by the dipping of my hands in water in the dye-house where I work. I saw in the papers about the wonderful cures of the Cuticura Remedies and procured some of the Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. In three days after the application of the Cuticura Ointment my hands began to peel and were better. The sores disappeared, and they are now smooth and clean, and I am still working in the dye-house. I strongly recommend Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment to any one with sore hands, and I hope that this letter will be the means of helping other sufferers. Very truly yours, Mrs. A. E. Maurer, 2340 State St., Chicago, Ill., July 1, 1905."

GOOD ADVERTISING BRINGS DOLLARS.

ADVERTISING HINTS

Advertise and keep advertising until you have made enough money. The value of advertising is not in proportion to its size, but in proportion to its persistence. Don't look for results as soon as the first man has read your advertisement.

The news paper is the old reliable advertising medium. Get some papers to write up store advertisements.

A poor job printed is a boomerang. A good job diverts attention from your prices or goods. Put prices in your advertisement. If you are selling a small spare, talk about one article at a time.

Talk about your goods, not about your firm or what a fine place your store is. Sign all your advertisements the same way. Advertise the thing there's profit in. Be brief. People who have time to read long ads have little money with which to buy goods.

Change your ads often. People think you are not alive if you don't. Business Men's N. C. R. Children like Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar. The pleasantest and best cough syrup to take, because it contains no opiates. Sold by S. W. Rogers, Druggist, Cloverport.

The Kind You Have Always Bought
Beware of cheap imitations.
Tobacco Crop.

In Owensboro, Ky., the delivery of a great deal of Tobacco is reported as the result of heavy rains. The Equity warehousemen are receiving considerable quantities of a good deal of Tobacco remaining in country hands.

At Henderson, Ky., what is probably the last load of Tobacco of the 1905 crop on the local market was sold on June 15th by J. T. Slaughter of Antioch, and was bought by John H. Hodge for $9.35, 8.00, and 2.00. The load weighed about 3,000 pounds, and the Tobacco was of a very fine grade.

Tallies With His Maker.

Jack Gleason's last shift is done and his spirit has crossed the great divide from whence no traveler returns. Monday evening at about 8 o'clock John Gleason succumbed to the ravages of that dreaded disease, pneumonia, after being confined less than two days. Just the week previous he met with an accident while performing his duties in the mine, that disabled his shoulder and was laying off while recovering from his injuries when he contracted pneumonia and owing to a previous severe attack of this disease early in the spring his lungs were in no condition to withstand the second siege so close following and his fatal work was rapid.

Deceased was born in New York city 50 years ago and when but eight years of age his parents moved to Cloverport, Ky., as the close of the war where John remained until he became of age when he came west and took up mining. He came to Creede in 1892 and has made this his home the balance of his life. For the past three years he has been shift boss under Superintendent Lees on the Creede United Mines company's property and his place will be hard to fill by another for Jack was capable, efficient and trustworthy. He was a single man, but leaves to mourn his untimely loss two sisters who are unmarried but still reside near the old home in Kentucky, and two nephews, Mike and Charles Newton, residing in Creede. His industrious disposition is evidenced by the good use to which he applied his earnings for he has paid for one good farm in Kentucky and has another amount paid for, both of which fall to his sisters. He was a member of the Elks of Creede Lodge No. 508 and of the Odd Fellows of Buena Vista Lodge No. 40 and upon his death the Elks took charge of the remains and laid them at rest with all the honors due a respected and honored brother Elks.

The funeral was on Wednesday and at the appointed hour the Elks' spacious hall was filled to its capacity with friends from all points of the county who had gathered there to pay their last respects to a time honored and respected friend and benefactor. The funeral service was held in the hall of many in which he was held. The beautiful Elks ceremony was performed and with the assistance of Father Duane, of the Catholic church, who blessed the remains and delivered a very appreciative sermon, and the choir music by the Congregational church choir, the ceremony was very impressive. At the conclusion of the services the remains were reviewed by the vast assemblage after which all that was mortal of Jack Gleason was conveyed to the Creede cemetery. On the street the procession was headed by the band and the members of the Elks lodge and followed by a long string of friends and miners who accompanied the remains to their last resting place where prayer and song they were deposited.—Creede Candle, Creede, Colo.

HARGIS ON THE STAND

First Witness for Defense Called in the Marcum Murder Case.

ATTACKS STATE WITNESSES

Claims He Knows Nothing of the Marcum Killing and Contradicts Statements of Felner and Others—Reflections on the Character of State's Attorney, Who Replies Vigorously.

Beattyville, Ky., July 13.—In his own behalf, former Judge James Hargis, charged with the murder of Attorney Marcum, took the stand today. Hargis, who was the first witness for the defense, told the story of his life in Breathitt county, and how he had risen from a poor boy to a man of wealth and position. He described his whereabouts when Marcum was shot. He saw Tom White come out of the door of the courthouse just before the shots were fired. Witness said he did not know that Marcum was to be killed, and said he had never spoken to Curtis Jett or any other man with reference to the killing of Marcum or any other person. He said Moses Felner never received any money from him not to testify against him. He said Felner wanted him to present affidavits for Sam Florida and Russell Sutton, but that he declined to do so. Judge Hargis asserted that the statement of Ashbury Butler was an absolute falsehood. In fact, witness said no conversation ever occurred between him and others with reference to Marcum. The witness referred to commonwealth witnesses as "fosters" and men who lurked about town, and it was necessary for the court to admonish Hargis on several occasions and instruct the jury not to consider such testimony. Hargis reflected several times on the character of Attorney Adams, and Judge Dwyer sent the jury from the room while Adams took the defendant over the rack. Attorney Young, for the defense, objected to this, but the court ruled that Hargis had made a serious reflection against the commonwealth's attorney, and he believed Adams should be permitted to defend himself.

Hargis was questioned by Attorney Byrd on cross-examination. He said he had no ill feeling against Marcum as a result of the contested election case, but he said he never spoke after the indictment for criminal libel was returned against Marcum. He did not secure an indictment against Felner because he did not feel that Felner could stand any one.

Jett's Testimony.

Beattyville, Ky., July 13.—Curtis Jett testified in the trial of Hargis and Callahan on the charge of murdering Lawyer Marcum. Jett admitted the assassination of Marcum, and told the manner in which the crime was committed. "Mr. Marcum had prosecuted me on several cases, and was my bitter enemy, and I am the man who killed him," said Jett. He then told of the assassination, talking with the description given by H. E. Jewett. Jett said he had not conferred with White in regard to the killing. The pistol he used, he said, was his own, and had been owned by him several months. He told the attorneys that Sheriff Callahan had given it to him. The defendants helped to defend him in his previous trial. He did not know, but thought they had given him nothing. Jett just his memory at the crucial moments, and could tell nothing of his or White's actions preceding or following the murder. Jett said that he had some marvelous change of heart is apparent, but the reason may be found in the statement of Commonwealth Attorney Adams, who said Jett was heavily drunk, and that another attempt will be made to get him to repeat his confession.

Tom White testified in the trial on the stand and asked Attorney Byrd to excuse him, as he did not want to answer any questions. He was asked if he was in Jackson the day Marcum was killed, but declined to answer. White even refused to answer after being told by the court Judge Dwyer ordered the witness to quit.

Other Witnesses.

Beattyville, Ky., July 14.—Alex Hargis was called as a witness in the Hargis-Callahan trial, but his examination was brief. He said he made no promise to Curtis Jett when he saw him in jail. He gave him no whiskey, money or anything else to swear for the defendants. D. J. Dickerson, county judge of Powell county, knew B. J. Ewen when the latter was a resident of Powell county. Witness said his reputation for truth, veracity and morality was high. R. O. Davis of Perry county was called to impeach Moses Felner, but on cross-examination by Attorney Jett it was shown that Davis was a resident of the town of Winchester for the purpose of impeaching Felner, and that he was so drunk when he entered the witness box that Judge Benton instructed the sheriff to take charge of him. B. Fulton French was placed on the stand by the defense and made a complete denial of everything charged to him.

Chicago, July 14.—The underground system for the transportation of mail in Chicago will be inaugurated Monday, when the tunnel connection between the postoffice and the La Salle street station is to be put in operation. Train of Two Trolleys Crashes into a String of Freight Cars.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 13.—Five persons were killed and more than a dozen injured, several seriously, when a train of two trolley cars, westbound from Lockport, on the lines of the International Railway company, ran into an open switch at a siding just east of Martinsville and crashed into a trolley freight motor and a train of seven freight cars. The passenger cars were going at a high rate of speed when the accident occurred, and the impact was terrific. The foremost car was broken in front, but remained on the rails. The dead: John Bittelman, motorman, Lockport, N. Y.; Chas. T. Hutcheson, seagr, Lockport; Mrs. Henry Ellet of Buffalo and six-year-old son; unknown girl, 16.

Finds General Conditions at the Stockyards to Be Good.

Chicago, July 13.—"I found the general condition at the stockyards to be good," said Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, "and everything was in the hands of the Chicago stockyards and entering yards in first-class condition and an evident desire upon the part of all those in authority to comply with the law. I will confer with some 30 government inspectors from various cities having packing industries. They come to Chicago at my request to receive instructions regarding the operations of the new inspection law."

A Tragic Finish.

A watchman's neglect permitted a leak in the great North Sea dyke, which a child might have stepped upon, to become a ruinous break, and a devastating entire province of Holland. In like manner Kenneth Melver, of Vancouver, B. C., permitted a little cold to go undisturbed until a tragic end was only averted by Dr. King's New Discovery. He writes: "Three doctors gave me up to die of lung inflammation, caused by a neglected cold; but Dr. King's New Discovery saved my life. I am guaranteed best cough and cold cure, at Severs Drug store. 50c and $1.00 Trial bottle free."

Philadelphia, July 11.—Virtual settlement of the strike of mine workers in the central Pennsylvania anthracite field, which began last April, was made in this city at a conference between representatives of the United Mine Workers of America and the operators in that field. The principal terms of the settlement are: A 6.55 per cent increase in wages for all mine workers over the rates which existed before the strike; application of the check-off system to miners, but not to laborers. The check-off was really the only obstacle in the final discussion of the terms of settlement.

Vindication of Dreyfus.

Paris, July 12.—Captain Alfred Dreyfus was completely acquitted of the charges on which he was condemned as a traitor, dismissed from the army and imprisoned on Devil's Island, and regarding which France has been for years by the most bitter political and racial agitation. His vindication is twofold, the supreme court first announcing a decision establishing the entire innocence of the accused and the military later deciding to present an agril hill in parliament restoring Dreyfus to the army with advanced rank and otherwise giving reparation.

Seattle, Wash., July 13.—George Mitchell, the youth who recently shot and killed Frank Edmund Crawford, the so-called "Holy Roller" prophet, and was acquitted of the charge of murder on a plea of insanity, was shot and killed by his sister Esther, in the United States in this city. The girl was arrested. Esther joined the "Holy Roller" sect at Chicago. She was one of the most fanatical of Crawford's followers. When her brother pursued the leader of the "Holy Rollers" to Seattle and shot him down on the street, she fled in justification that Crawford had deluded and wronged his sister. George Mitchell was acquitted of the charge of murder on Tuesday, and nearly all of the following day he spent in searching for Esther in Seattle lodging houses.

JUDGE OF THE SUPREME COURT

Was Alarmingly Afflicted With La Grippe.

Relieved by Pe-ru-na.

The Grip Is Properly Termed Epidemic Catarrh.

As Pe-ru-na Relieves Every Form of Catarrh, It Has Probably Relieved More Cases of Grip Than Any Other Remedy.

The Fear of Grip Makes People Nervous.

There is no remedy in the world that meets the conditions produced by the grip better than Peruna.

Peruna strengthens as it renovates, soothes while it stimulates, heals as it expurgates.

It reaches the source of all diseases of the mucous membrane by its action on the vaso-motor system of nerves.

After-Effects of the Grip.

Every person who has had the grippe during the last year should take a course of Peruna.

The grip has produced catarrhal inflammation of the whole mucous membrane, and good health is impossible until these are restored to normal condition. This Peruna will do.

A great many remedies have been suggested for this condition from time to time, but Peruna is the only remedy that has gained great popularity in these cases.

It has seldom failed to give satisfaction during forty years' experience and still occupies the unique position of being the leading and most generally used remedy for the after-effects of the grippe.

Claim of Revolutionists.

Mexico City, July 14.—Admiral from San Salvador confirms the report of the battle of El Cidaro and the killing of the commander of the Salvadorean forces, General Regalado, but announces a victory gained by General Toledo of the insurgent force on the same day at a point farther north, where the Guatemalan army was routed with heavy loss. In an interview here General Barillas, the Guatemalan insurgent, laments the loss of General Regalado, but says there will be no change in the program of the revolutionists. General Toledo is now at the head of the revolutionists in the field and is receiving heavy reinforcements daily. The revolutionists claim they will be in Guatemala City within a fortnight.
